

Mercury Fillings – The Lisa Marie Presley Interview as told to Rolling Stone Magazine

Elvis' daughter: "I was absolutely falling apart."

Photo by Matthew Rolston from Rolling Stone, April 17, 2003 © 2003 Rolling Stone LLC. All rights reserved. Reprinted by Permission.

Citations from story with permission of freelance writer Chris Heath.

This excerpt is taken from Lisa Marie Presley's interview with "Rolling Stone Magazine" (April 20, 2003). Read it online: http://www.elvis.com.au/presley/interview_lisamarie_ rollingstone.shtml. (Scroll down about 2/3 through the interview to find it...)

In the period following her split from Michael Jackson, her health collapsed. Presley recounts, "My body started to deteriorate. I started to have panic attacks. I went through two years of baffling every doctor from East to West Coast. One week it was asthma . . . hypoglycemia . . . candida . . . reflux . . . I had everything. My gall bladder just stopped working, and I had to get it taken out. This was when the tabloids said I tried to kill myself or something like that. We settled out of court. But anyway, I wound up in the hospital. I had everything happening; my body completely fell apart. And nobody knew what the hell was wrong with me."

"I was allergic to everything. I had to eat chicken and broccoli for a yearI was absolutely falling apart, physically and emotionally, for a two-year period." At times she thought of death. "It was the constant physical breakdowns that were going on that I didn't understand." You really thought you might not make it? "I really thought it. It was just non-stop."

Then she went to a homeopathic doctor, told him all her symptoms, and he asked her to open her mouth. He told her to get her fillings removed. "Once I started to get them out, it all stopped." (She now thinks her problems were caused by a mixture of mercury fillings and extreme stress.) "Mercury can make you go crazy. That term, 'mad as a hatter', comes from mercury: people working in felt factories and going crazy. They try to say mercury is safe, but it's the second deadliest poison known to man, underneath plutonium, and it's in people's teeth."

If you would like to know how mercury toxic you might be, contact the office of Pamela Costello MD in Albuquerque 505-503-8325 (www.drpamelacostello.com). In addition, if you would like to discover how much mercury vapor is coming out of your mercury / silver fillings, or to discuss mercury free dentistry, contact the office of Bill Wolfe DDS in Albuquerque or Santa Fe 505-988-9868 (www.drwolfe. com). Be as healthy as you can be!

